Tanks

August 13, 2008

To Whom It May Concern,

The following Norwesco below ground tanks are manufactured using the same mold:

300 gallon sphere pump tank/325 gallon sphere cistern tank

500 gallon sphere pump tank/550 gallon sphere cistern tank

500 gallon septic tank/600 gallon cistern tank

1000 gallon 2 manhole septic tank/1000 gallon 2 manhole Bruiser tank/1200 gallon cistern tank

1500 gallon 2 manhole septic tank/1500 gallon 2 manhole Bruiser tank/1700 gallon cistern tank

Septic tanks are yellow, Bruiser tanks are blue and cistern tanks are white. The difference in gallons is due to the number of usable gallons a tank has. If it's used as a septic or Bruiser, the gallons are measured up to the outlet. If it's used as a cistern, the gallons are measured to the top of the tank. When used as a septic or Bruiser, many states require that the gallons are stamped into the tank so a non-removable plate is in the mold to allow this to happen. That is why a tank may have a molded-in designation as a 1000 gallon but the UPC code and serial number will designate which tank you've actually received.
